FOREWORD

We of the staff are happy to present to you the 1939 edition of the Wabash. It is a relief to realize that the job is done — no more pictures, plates, or deadlines to make. Our aim in this volume is to please you with a presentation of Wabash. There is no theme this year except Wabash College and its Little Giants.

Incorporated in this book are many things — the ideals of Wabash, the hopes and ideas of the staff, and the endeavor of all concerned to present a true picture of our school and the life revolving about it. We hope that these have been accomplished; it could be only through the cooperation of the student body and faculty. These are the materials with which we worked, and the final structure is an integration of these materials.

Whatever measure of success is achieved by this book is due to several helpers of the staff. The Board of Publications and Dick Banta proved most cooperative; the Senior Council made the volume possible by its most gracious allotment to the Wabash fund. George McGinnis of the Grubb Engraving Company is responsible for many of the trends in composition, and "Red" Howell made a long year much more agreeable with his splendid help.

To the Seniors we wish the best of luck, with the hope that they never forget their Alma Mater.

C O N

Campus Leaders

The boys who have held major publications posts, have been presidents of the various organizations, or have in some other way distinguished themselves this year.

Administration

The Board of Trustees, officers of the College, and members of the faculty, form an integral part of Wabash.

Seniors

The Class of 1939 — ready, after four years of labor here, to seek their fortunes away from these classic halls.

Underclassmen

The Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen are hot on the trail of becoming Seniors and taking their seats in the front part of the chapel.

Athletics

These are the boys who make up our teams. They are fighting teams, if not always winning teams, and Wabash is proud of them.

Activities

Extra-curricular activities are important parts of a liberal arts education; they combine to present a better picture of life at Wabash.

Fraternities

Seven national fraternities have chapters on the Wabash Campus, and the independent men are combined into the efficient Association of Independent Men.

Features

This book would not be complete without this section. All pictures were taken by Wabash men, and show some of the high-lights of a Wabash year.

SENIORS

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

John Nordman, Dick Stewart, and Don DeVoto were unanimously elected President, Vice-President, and Secretary, respectively, by the Senior Class. Each of these men is distinguished on the campus. John Nordman, an Independent, is a member of the Senior Council, and was a member of the football squad until he was injured early in the season. Dick Stewart is a Sigma Chi, and is well known as a member of the Sphinx Club and the Scarlet Masque. Don DeVoto is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha. His musical ability has been appreciated many times by the students. Through the cooperation of these men and the faculty, the administration of Senior Class affairs has been carried out successfully.

SENIOR COUNCIL

One representative from each fraternity, and five men representing the independents, make up the Senior Council.

At the beginning of the year they draw up a budget for college activities, deciding how much different minor sports may spend during the year, how much the Board of Publications has for its use, and appropriating sums to various other organizations. This year they demanded more detailed reports than heretofore, before giving out the money.

These men meet once a week throughout the year. At the meetings they discuss freshman discipline and upper-classman problems, since they are to a great degree responsible for student conduct.

THE COACHES

To keep sportsmanship and fair play above winning or losing, and to build character in the men on their teams are the primary interests of "Pete", "Pat", and "Goldie". Every Little Giant respects and loves these men, who, by their ability and hard work, have each year turned out teams worthy of the Wabash ideals.

SENIOR MANAGERS

A student manager must be always ready to answer a call for anything from a sweat shirt to a piece of tape, must always keep track of the equipment, and see that it is in good shape. In this way he does his part in boosting the team. The Seniors who were managers this year: Bill Vosloh, Football; Don Robertson, Basketball; and Herb Keck, Baseball. Two Sophomores took care of the track and cross country men. They were: Bill Blum and Ed Cress. It's all a lot of work, and they all did swell jobs.

CHEER LEADERS

Three men combined their efforts to keep that old "Wabash" spirit alive, even though the going in the games was tough. In a year when losing, instead of winning, was the rule, these fellows, Bill Jackson, Bill Dearborn, and Paul Stern kept the students yelling and cheering until the final gun went off. They deserve a lot of credit for helping to keep up the tradition, "Wabash Always Fights".

F O O T

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Twelve experienced lettermen returned to form a nucleus, and with an abundance of promising sophomores to fill in the gaps, Wabash grid prospects looked promising at the outset of the 1938 season, but succeeding events proved that "pre-season" dope is often unreliable.

The old injury "jinx" haunted the Little Giants throughout the early part of the schedule, and kept them from performing their best. However, as one by one the crippled list diminished, the team began to exhibit a much improved brand of ball, finally emerging with a record of one win, one tie, and five losses.

The stand-out performance of the year for the Little Giants occurred in the last game of the season against the bitterest rival of them all, DePauw. On a field swept by a gale so strong as to make kicking a farce, the men from Wabash held a DePauw team, rated far superior, to a single touchdown.

REVIEW OF SEASON

WABASH, 0; AKRON UNIVERSITY, 38; SEPTEMBER 24

For the opening game of the 1938 football season, the Wabash Cavemen went to the home of the Akron Zippers, at Akron, Ohio. The opposition sent a much more experienced and a much heavier squad against the Little Giants, who had four Sophomores in the starting line-up. The Wabash line held up well during the game, and most of Akron's 450 yards gain came as a result of end runs and deceptive pass plays. Jack Rich, Frank Kobal, and John Wakeley showed up well in the Wabash forward wall. Backs Zazula and Morrison, and end Whittier were the sparkplugs of the Akron play. The biggest thrill of the game came when Morrison ran for fifty yards to a touchdown on a lateral from the Zipper end, Whittier. Bill Sabo received a torn rib cartilage during the encounter.

WABASH, 6; HANOVER COLLEGE, 14; OCTOBER 1

The Little Giants lost their second game of the grid season to a hard fighting Hanover eleven in the first home game of the year. A bruised, battered, but scrappy Wabash eleven was unable to stop the onslaught of the fresh Hanover aggregation. The Cavemen's first score of the year came in the fourth quarter when Buehner intercepted a Hanover pass and ran eighty yards to a touchdown without a hand being laid on him. Hanover's touchdowns came in the second and third periods. Through sustained drives down the field, Wabash players Bill Pack, Paul Salyer, and Moose Krause suffered injuries during the encounter, thus adding to the already large injured list. The team showed a decided lack of experience, in that the blocking and passing were weak.

WABASH, 0; EVANSVILLE, 27; OCTOBER 8

The Wabash Little Giants were defeated by an unexpectedly strong Evansville eleven at the Bosse High School Stadium in Evansville. Due to the crippled condition of our squad, Coach Slyker's Purple Aces outplayed the Cavemen to score a 27-0 victory. Both teams played on even terms during the first half of the contest, but the Evansville warriors jumped to a nine point lead late in the second quarter when they completed a long pass, resulting in a touchdown, and added a safety. In the third period the Wabash defense tightened to hold the opposition scoreless. However, in the last period the Wabash defense, weakened by injuries to Sophomore tackle Bill Hess, and Steve Gineris, was unable to check the inspired drive of the Evansville team which then added three more touchdowns to their total.

Sabo	Buehner	Noland	Salyer	Fisher	Maloney
Hess	Cochrane	Sheeler	Hanna	Lookabill	Quinn

WABASH, 0; EARLHAM, 0; OCTOBER 15

Wabash's succession of defeats was broken when the Little Giants held the Quakers to a scoreless tie at Ingalls Field. With several new faces in the lineup, the Cavemen played inspired ball, and at times came close to pushing over a score, only to be stopped by the more experienced Quaker eleven. The sparkplugs of the renovated Wabash line were Gus Heimbrodt and Mike Novosel, who, on numerous occasions, broke through the Earlham line to nail the Maroon runmen for considerable losses. Sophomore back Bill Fisher proved to be outstanding in the Little Giant backfield. In the first quarter the Quakers were halted on the seven yard line after a sensational march down the field. The second quarter action was held deep in Earlham territory, as it was the next period when the Little Giants came within a yard of scoring. Throughout the contest the Wabash team seemed over-anxious, and as a result suffered from penalties.

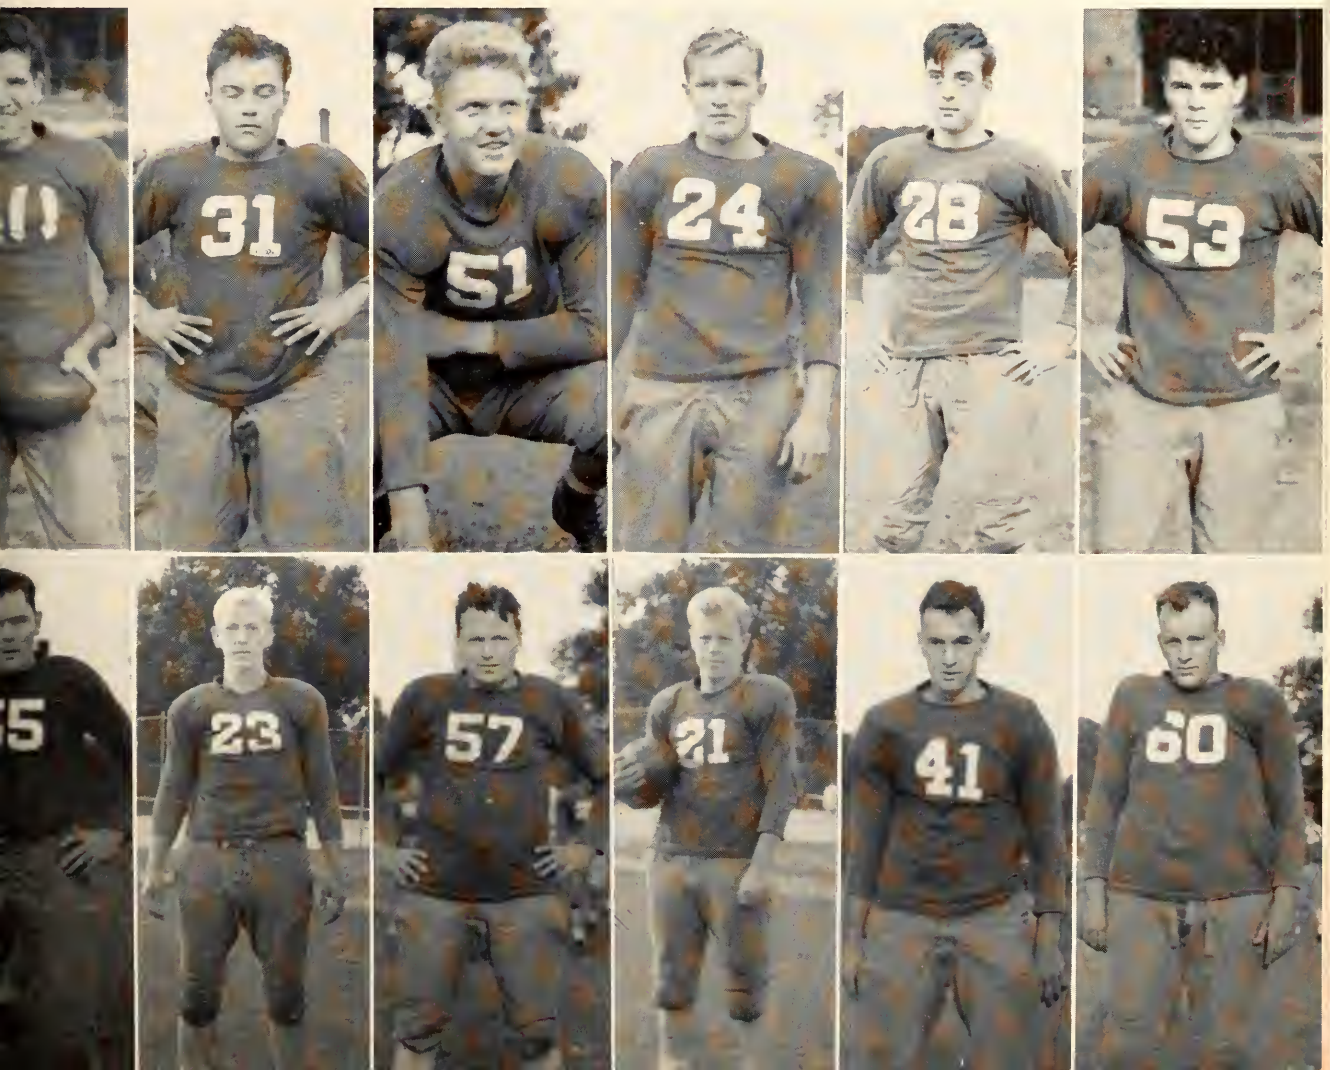
WABASH, 2; FRANKLIN, 13; OCTOBER 22

The Wabash Little Giants, playing before 3,000 Franklin Homecoming fans, outgained their hosts on fifteen first downs to four, and had the ball twice within the Franklin 10 yard line but lacked the necessary punch to put the ball over. Franklin marked up their first tally as a result of a smashing power drive through the weakening Scarlet defense. Art Boerger, 220 pound Franklin fullback, finally scored the second time on an intercepted pass followed by a lateral. The Wabash chain of injuries was finally broken in this game as no one was seriously hurt. Charlie

Gineris | Robinson | McConnell | Ristine | Gray | Armstrong
Ryan | Smith | Emmert | Campbell | Crockett | Adamson



Lookabill, Sophomore Little Giant end, scored a first half touchdown on a beautifully intercepted pass play, but this score was deprived Wabash for the play was called back because of an offside penalty. The Little Giants chalked up their safety when one of the Franklin halfbacks let a bad pass from center go over his head into the end zone.

WABASH, 0; BUTLER UNIVERSITY, 27; OCTOBER 29

The Scarlet warriors went down fighting to a heavy Butler team before a large homecoming crowd. While the Little Giants rallied on numerous occasions on running plays for their yardage, the Bulldogs were able to pile up 316 yards from scrimmage, chiefly through a well executed aerial attack. After a series of punts early in the game, Bill Kreag, Butler's star fullback, cut through the Little Giants' right tackle and when almost on the ground, tossed a lateral to Bob Conner, Bulldog quarterback, who brought the ball to the Little Giants' two yard marker. Kreag plunged through the center of the Wabash line for a touchdown, also kicking the extra point. Butler's other three touchdowns came chiefly as a result of pass plays, since the Cavemen were able to hold their own on line plays. Every Wabash man who played showed great spirit, and it was only when the final gun sounded that they gave up the fight.

WABASH, 32; ROSE POLY, 14; NOVEMBER 5

The first Caveman victory of the season was played on home ground against Rose Poly. The Engineers from Terre Haute had previously defeated both Evansville and Earlham, and were in line for at least a tie for the Indiana Conference title, with the Butler Bulldogs, until they met the Little Giants. Lookabill spent the afternoon blocking Engineers' punts, and Kobal caught two touchdown passes. The entire Wabash line showed up well and ripped holes in the opposition, so that Sabo, Pack, Marciniak, and Smith were able to pick up extra yardage, while Campbell, Sophomore quarterback, displayed excellent work as field general.

WABASH, 0; DePAUW, 7; NOVEMBER 12

With the Little Giant line as the mainstay of the team, the Tigers from DePauw were surprised at the strength of the Wabash eleven. Most of their gains had to come from sweeping end plays, and their lone touchdown was made by the DePauw captain, Joe Barr, who recovered a Wabash fumble. In the second quarter, Marciniak, fullback of the Wabash team, intercepted a pass on the fifteen yard line, but the heavy DePauw team was able to stop the advance, thus ending the best scoring possibility of the Little Giants. Scott, DePauw's scoring ace, was kept well under control until the closing minutes of the game, when he broke away for a beautiful run.

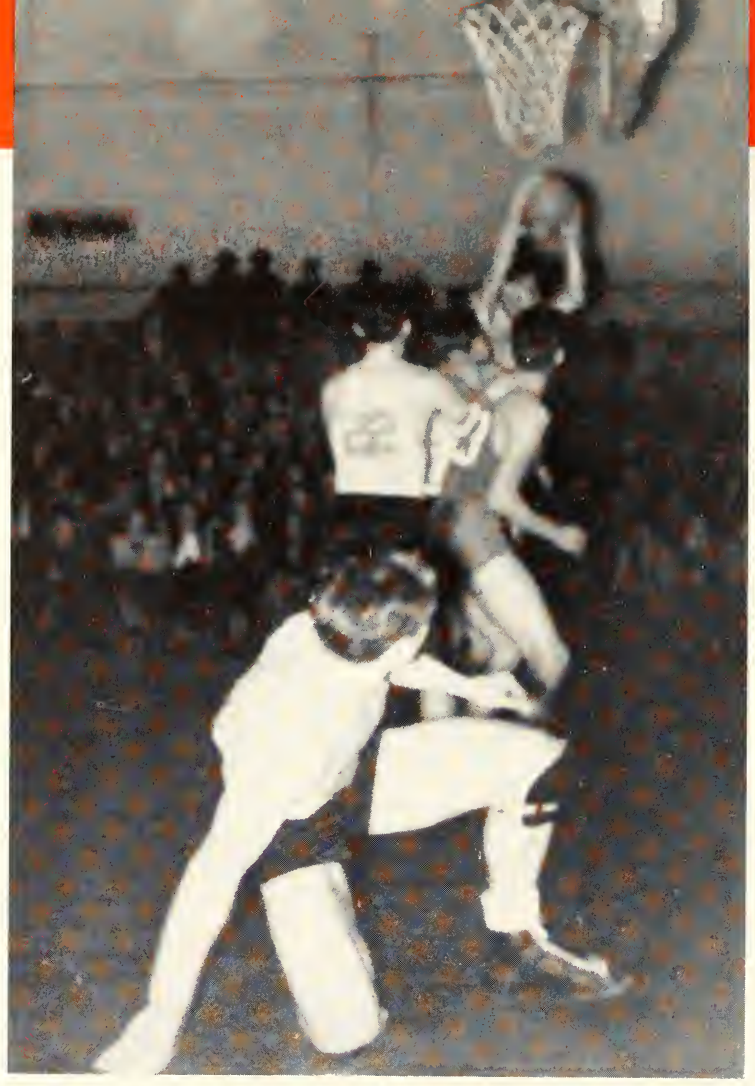
Despite the fact that the Rhynies went scoreless during their season, the team showed excellent spirit and the old Wabash fight in both games.

Butler defeated the frosh 6-0 in a hard fought game which featured some excellent punting and also good defensive work by the linemen. In the closing minutes, Wabash approached the goal line, but the rally was ended by the final gun.

The game against DePauw was fought in a high wind and a driving rain. DePauw emerged victorious 12-0, scoring on a pass ruled complete due to interference and a series of power plays.

Of the forty-two candidates on the team, many showed promise of having the ability to fill varsity berths next year. The numeral winners were: Ade, Bechdolt, Berelzheimer, Battle, Calwell, Chase, Campbell, Coffield, Franz, Goldsby, Harms, Hall, Hale, Hess, Ireland, M. L. Johnson, Kendall, Maclear, O'Dell, Potter, Ransom, Songer, Walker, and Wilson.



B A S K E

VARSITY BASKETBALL

A mediocre season was climaxed by a decisive victory over DePauw, which saw five seniors ring down the curtain on their college basketball careers. Another high point of the season was a double overtime with Butler which the Capital city boys managed to pull out of the fire in the closing seconds of the second overtime, 27-25.

The Little Giants ended up in a tie for seventh place in the Indiana conference with a record of six won and six lost. The squad was made up of five seniors and two juniors, plus a wealth of sophomore material. The seven veterans were Berns, Long, Kitzmiller, Vosloh, Hawkins, and Rhode. Besides these men, sophomores Fisher, Campbell, Hackleman, and Klein saw quite a bit of action.

The team suffered a severe loss at the middle of the season when Pete Vaughan was forced to give up coaching for the remainder of the year, due to ill-health. However, Assistant Coach Goldsberry did an excellent job with the squad for the remainder of the season.

Bill Kitzmiller played his usual style of steady ball at his guard position and for the second successive year was named on the All-State team for secondary schools.

Jack Berns, who returned to action after a year's lay-off, was the team's high point man this year with 152 points. He was also a mainstay on defense.

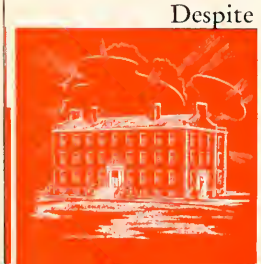
Bill Hawkins was the long shot artist of the team, hooking many in from the middle of the floor. He was also outstanding in breaking up fast breaks under the basket.

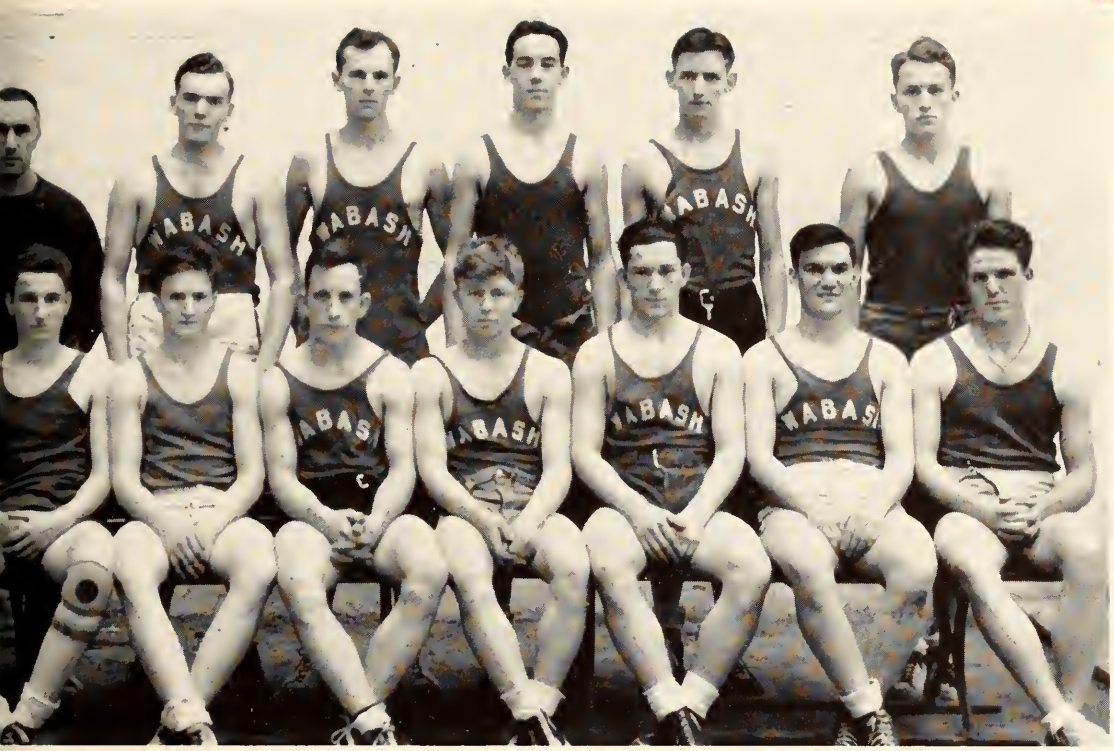
Bill Vosloh teamed with Berns at the other forward position, and his flashy ball handling and twisting under basket shots marked him as a dangerous man on offense.

Bob Long was shifted from center to forward this year and saw quite a bit of action. His entrance in a game was always followed by two or three points.

Don Robertson spent a good deal of time in the capacity of Senior Basketball Manager. His Junior assistants were Dunc Fisher and Ransom Griffin.

Wabash used a fast breaking style to a good advantage in most of the games. Coupled with this was a system of "picking up" the other teams on defense before they were able to get set. Despite the fact that five seniors will be lost by graduation, prospects for next year look surprisingly bright with the return of many seasoned sophs and a goodly number of freshmen.





FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The freshman squad ran into some tough luck as well as some tough competition in the first three games of the season, but finished the season in a blaze of glory by defeating the DePauw yearlings, 49-43.

DePauw there: The first half see-sawed back and forth, with neither team gaining a great advantage. However, the Greencastle lads gained a commanding lead during the second half, which they kept until the end.

Butler here: The Butler squad poured the field goals through in the first five minutes, and the Wabash rhynies, although displaying an improved brand of ball, never caught the fast breaking Butler team.

Butler there: Wabash adopted a fast breaking attack which featured two individual teams playing at alternate periods. The game was close throughout, but a basket by Kelly, tall Butler center, in the closing seconds, spelled defeat for a fighting Wabash squad, 39-37.

DePauw here: Continuing their fast breaking style of play, Coach Paterson's rhynies ran the DePauw team off the floor to the tune of 49-43. Trailing by nine points at the half, Wabash came back to score ten points in two minutes, and gain a lead which they never relinquished.

REVIEW OF SEASON

The 1939 baseball season at Wabash was ushered in on April 5th. The opponent—Indiana. The score—wet grounds. And so it's gone for many games now. The team lost its second game to Illinois in a snow storm. The usual contrary weather seems to be more contrary than usual this year—much to the dismay of the scarlet nine.

But some games have been sneaked in on old man weather and the boys are finding their hitting eyes and pounding the ball in proverbial mid-season form. The squad is bolstered by seven returning lettermen, and prospects for another successful season look promising. Eddie Marciniak and Harry Hunt are the returning catchers, serving their last years on the squad. Seniors Walt Davis and Bill Hawkins will form the nucleus of the pitching staff for the second consecutive year. "Moose" Hanscom will be pulling them in around first base for his third year of varsity baseball. The other two returning lettermen are Fred Rhode, Junior shortstop, and Bob Long, hard-hitting outfielder.

A wealth of sophomore material makes up the rest of the squad. They are Jim Adamson and Max Bohlen, catchers; Loren Schloot, Martin Quinn, and Iggy Silverman, infielders; and Paul Emmert, and Jim Seiler, outfielders. Sam Scheively was converted into a pitcher to aid Joe Miller in handling the pitching assignments with the two veterans.

A summary of the seniors follows:

Walt Davis—He's been pitching them in there for three years now. Always dependable, Walt's our number one moundsman.

Bill Hawkins—Closely follows on Walt's heels when you start talking about who's number one. He's been playing for two years and has plenty of slants that are hard to solve for hits.

Eddie Marciniak—Who hasn't heard Eddie's steadying line of chatter heckling the opposing batters from his position behind the plate? Eddie's strong right arm has caught many opponents yards from second.

Harry Hunt—Harry shares the catching duties with Eddie. When you want to argue about baseball rules steer clear of Harry—he knows 'em all.

Wayne Hanscom—"Moose" is probably the most natural ball player on the team. His huge frame has held down the first sack with little trouble for the past three years. Also our clean-up hitter—we'll miss "Moose" next year, but our loss may be some major league team's gain.

Bob Long—Ever seen those circus catches being pulled out in the field? That's Bob. One of the smartest ball players on the squad, his quick thinking has already pulled one triple play this season.

The schedule, with scores of games played to date, follows:

MINOR SPORTS

This year has seen a great increase in interest in minor sports, both in the number of men turning out, and in the number of meets in which each of the teams participated.

Cross Country activity started with the beginning of school in the fall. All of the regular men from last year turned out, a few new varsity men, and a large number of promising Freshmen. As a result of their activities, four letters were earned, and three numeral sweaters.

Spring brought with it the usual golf fever. Professor Paterson had more material from which to choose, and as a result the team was of finer caliber. The team is making a record which well repays the extra expense and effort.

Tennis is another sport that blossoms in the spring. In spite of adverse weather in the form of raw, windy, and rainy days, the activity of the tennis team continued as best it could. Professor Montgomery coached the team and arranged the matches. Even though many had to be called off, a good number are being played.

Although track wasn't started until last year, interest has grown by leaps and bounds. This year about thirty men answered the call of Professor Baker for track men. Six meets are scheduled, three of them here, and three away.

CROSS COUNTRY

A much greater interest was shown in Cross Country this year, in both the Varsity and Freshman teams, although not once were they victorious. McDermott, Hollinger, Hodnett, Boyd, Fulton, and Walhay made up the Varsity team, McDermott, Hollinger, Hodnett, and Fulton receiving letters.

The Freshmen who won their numerals this year were: Forbes, Hale, Byerrium, Egger, and Rich.

TRACK

Track is in the second season of its much-needed revival at Wabash. After a ten-year absence this sport has again established itself. With the obviously increased interest in track, Coach Baker, energetically pinch-hitting for Dr. Scott on leave of absence, has worked his fifty charges from four to six each afternoon. There are several leading runners and field men on the squad and the freshman squad contains quite a few outstanding prospects for future varsity teams.

Already Wabash has sent individual participants to the Butler Relays and A. A. U. meet. In the A. A. U. meet the freshman representatives gave a very impressive account of themselves against the stiffest opposition in the Midwest, and much is expected of them in their meets with DePauw and Indiana State. Although wintry spring weather caused the first varsity track meets to be cancelled, the later-season meets are expected to be run off without too many weather interruptions. But regardless of the weather, the newly-formed Track Club and the growing enthusiasm of the students will guarantee future interest in this oldest and most universal of all athletic sports.

TENNIS

With a big-time schedule, most of it ahead of them, the Wabash varsity tennis squad is rapidly becoming a strong playing unit in the college's athletic front. The squad is composed of experienced veterans, and with a decent break from the weather man, should surpass last year's excellent record of six wins and one loss. During spring vacation five raqueteers, Mayberry, Elliott, Wahl, Bechtel, and Rynerson, and Coach Montgomery traveled to Vanderbilt, Sewanee, and Evansville for matches with those schools.

The impressive schedule follows:

April 20—Notre Dame, there
April 21—Purdue, there
April 24—Rose Poly, there
April 28—Indiana, here
April 30—Ohio Wesleyan, here
May 5—DePauw, here
May 6—Earlham, there
May 8—Butler, there
May 18, 19, 20—State Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament at Earlham

GOLF

Under the sponsorship of Prof. Paterson and the leadership of Captain George Emerson, the Little Giant golf team is enjoying a successful season. On the strict percentage basis, the golfers have fared better than any other spring sport at Wabash, having won to date from Armour Tech, Franklin, and DePauw; losing only to Butler.

The first three positions have been held down capably by George Emerson, Dave Snyder, and Dick Harris; while Allen Kinnaman, Arthur Schulze, and Bill Jackson have constantly fought for fourth place on the team. With two matches with Indiana State, and one each with DePauw, Butler, and Franklin still remaining, the team should boast a particularly fine record.

INTRAMURALS

Intramurals can accurately be called Wabash's chief activity, with at least one-third of the student body participating. Even the faculty enters into competition with each fraternity and the Independents in all sports but touch football (and of course, debating).

This year witnessed a more wide-open race for the intramural cup with the Betas held more in check and no organization winning more than two titles as this book is printed. Football was won last fall by the Fijis who went through the season in true steam-roller fashion. At the same time the tennis tournament was being conducted and all tennis enthusiasts not on the varsity team entered, with Bartow Bechtel of the Independents winning the crown. The intramural debate cup was won in December by two Sig freshmen, Quick and Beckman, who defeated all proponents of "pump-priming". Basketball was won by the Phi Delts, who barely eked out the Independents in a playoff necessary to decide the title. The Betas usurped the Phi Gams' crown in volleyball and also came through to victory in the Ping Pong tournament.

Softball, the people's game, has not been decided as yet, but a close race is predicted, with the winner standing a good chance of getting the Intramural cup.

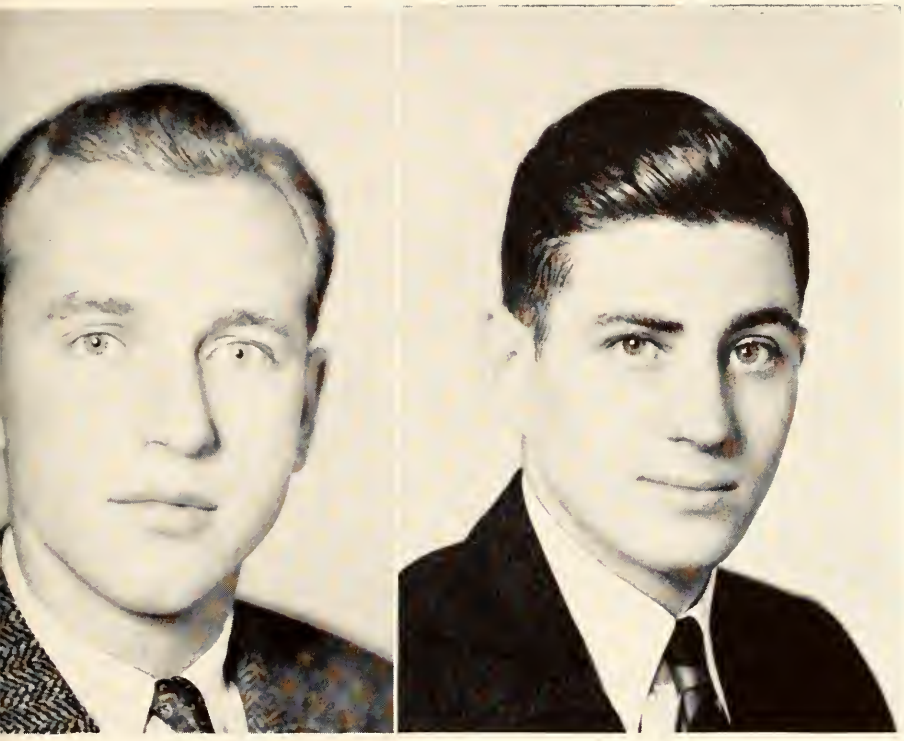
HONORARIES

PART ONE



George Emerson, Bill Moore

PHI BETA KAPPA

The privilege of wearing a Phi Beta Kappa key is the highest scholastic honor a Wabash man can earn. Not only at Wabash, but throughout the country this small gold key is recognized as a reward for distinctive and deserved achievement.

Each spring in about one-fourth of the colleges and universities of the nation, a number not to exceed one-sixth of the graduating class are elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Wabash is among that certain fourth that have a chapter of this, America's oldest and most distinguished honorary fraternity, and the men of that sixth who received the honor on the 1938 class day last spring were: Carl Bergquist, Walter Fertig, Charles Gaines, John Koffend, Dwain Moore, William Rassmussen, John Ziegweid, Myron Reynolds, Herbert Risley, and Robert Shortridge.

As is customary, the two Juniors with the highest scholastic record also received keys at the annual breakfast meeting and initiation. The two who were thus initiated were George Emerson and William Moore.

PI DELTA EPSILON

Pi Delta Epsilon is a national honorary journalistic fraternity. The Wabash chapter was chartered in 1923.

New members are elected each spring from the men who have held responsible positions on the publications of the college. Its emblem is a small triangular key with the owner's name, college, and year of initiation engraved on the back.

The president of Pi Delta Epsilon is ex-officio chairman of the Board of Publications.

This year's officers were: Gib Supple, President; Carter Tharp, Vice-President; Francis Knebel, Secretary-Treasurer.

THE BLUE KEY

The Wabash Blue Key is the honorary society for the recognition of outstanding men on this campus. It is not affiliated with the national organization of the same name.

Each semester four Juniors whom the members deem worthy to wear the emblem of the society, a blue key with a vertical gold band surmounted by a "W", are initiated.

This year the Blue Key instituted the Wabash Improvement Fund, to which the students subscribed over $400. This fund is to be used for useful improvements around the school. The Blue Key also sponsored the organization of a Marital Relations Course, and co-sponsored the Interfraternity Sing.

This year's officers were: President, Don Custis; Vice-President, Dick Dearborn; Secretary-Treasurer, Wayne Hanscom.

ROW 1—Tharp, Brigance, Custis
ROW 2—George, Boord, Moore

TAU KAPPA ALPHA

Tau Kappa Alpha is a national honorary forensic fraternity. To become eligible for membership in this fraternity a man must have participated in two inter-collegiate decision debates or in one inter-collegiate oratorical contest. Outstanding members of the Speakers' Bureau, with a recommendation from the Speech department, are also eligible for membership.

The election of new members is held at the annual meeting in the spring. The emblem of the organization is a small key composed of a scroll with the seal and letters T K A.

This year's officers were: Don Custis, President; Carter Tharp, Vice-President; Professor Phillips, Permanent Secretary.

THE SPHINX CLUB

The Sphinx Club is an honorary organization for men who are outstanding on the campus. The club is limited to twenty-five members who, this year, represented every fraternity and the independents.

The annual Hall of Fame Award which the Club makes at Class Day, went last year to President Hopkins.

The Club also gives a cup for the best Homecoming Decorations, and each year awards the lily, shovel, straw, and brown derby to deserving seniors, and presents trophies to the champions of all intramural sports.

The officers this year were: Bill Pack, President; Frank Kobal, Vice-President; Bill Kitzmiller, Secretary-Treasurer.

ROW 1—Nordman, Moore, Kraus, Flaningam, Gineris, Haines
ROW 2—Stross, Cassel, Campbell, Burns, Burwell, Helfrich, Rickett, Davis

OMEGA

Omega is an honorary organization for outstanding independent men on the campus. Each spring and fall outstanding independents who also have a high scholarship rating are selected to wear its emblem, the Greek letter Omega superimposed over a scarlet "W".

This year Omega continued the series of all-school dances which it inaugurated last year, with one for the benefit of the baseball team. It was also the guiding hand behind the independent intramural teams.

The able officers this year were: President, Gus Gineris; Vice-President, Marshall Stross; Secretary-Treasurer, Walter Davis.

ALPHA PI

Alpha Pi is the science club on the Wabash campus and is open to men majoring in Division I. Originally, Wabash had two extra-curricular organizations for its scientific-minded students; one a physical science club and the other for the biological sciences. However, a merger was consummated, and out of the merger came what is now Alpha Pi.

Membership in Alpha Pi is selective, as potential men are elected each year by the body of the club. The two sophomores in Division I who have the highest averages are eligible for admission each year, as are the highest ranking three-fourths of the seniors in Division I and the highest ranking two-thirds of the juniors in that division.

Meetings are held every other week, and talks on interesting phases of science are provided either by outside speakers, faculty members, or members of the club.

This year Alpha Pi was fortunate in obtaining several well-known scientists and doctors as speakers.

George Norman was president of the club, Tom Flanigan served as vice-president, and Earl Hollinger was secretary-treasurer.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club was organized with the purpose of conducting discussion on national and international relations and public affairs. The club holds meetings once a month in the old chapel and at various fraternity houses; it is affiliated with the national organization of the same name. Carter Tharp was elected President for the year, and Professor Tomlinson acted as the club's advisor.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

Though this group is seldom heard of on the campus, it has an important role to play behind the scenes in Wabash publications since these men are the guiding light of all the student publications.

Student members are selected from Pi Delta Epsilon by the board. Gib Supple was the Student Chairman of the board, since the President of Pi Delta Epsilon automatically holds this office.

Duties of the board are the supervising of the finances of all publications, and the selection of the Editors and Business Managers of these publications. It is also their duty to elect the board which is to succeed them.

We of the yearbook staff are very grateful for the help and cooperation we have received from them in the past year.

THE SPEAKERS' BUREAU

The first Speakers' Bureau in the United States was started here twelve years ago under the direction of Doctor Brigance, who again is at its head. During this time it has become very well known, and each year sends out information to fifty or sixty colleges which have followed its example. In the last six years there have been 108 speeches a year, and altogether over 1000 speeches have been given. Many engagements must be turned down because speakers may speak only once a week, and there are many conflicts. Bill Moore has the record number of appearances, having given approximately 100 speeches.

Each speaker gives a different type of talk, since appearances include service clubs, high schools, women's clubs, teachers' associations, and men's clubs.

HISTORY CLUB

The Contemporary History Club is a comparatively new organization founded in the fall of 1937 by a group of upper-classmen interested in history and current events.

This year the club was sponsored by Professor Gronert, and had 22 members, the majority of whom were men in Division 3. Membership in the organization is limited, as prospective members are first approved by the faculty and then voted on by the club.

Bi-weekly meetings are held by the organization, and in most meetings, two members of the group serve as speakers. Some of the topics discussed this year were: "Mexico from 1900 to 1933", "Mexico from 1933 to 1938", "A Third Term for Roosevelt", "Modern China", "The Negro Question in the United States", and "Catholics and Jews in Germany".

Wayne Hanscom served as president this year, and Don Robertson was secretary.

NEWS BUREAU

Headed this year by Ransom Griffin and Bob Long, the Wabash News Bureau has continued to publicize events of importance concerning the college and students.

The Bureau sent out two bulletins weekly, one to most of the newspapers in Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, and Illinois, and the other was sent, when an event of special importance occurred, to the leading papers of the country by the Associated Press.

Stories of campus activities were publicized — athletic events, scholarship, dramatics, debates, personal notes, and stories connected directly with Wabash College. Mr. Shearer acted as advisor of the Bureau.

WABASH COLLEGIANS

The Wabash Collegians have just finished their fourth and most successful year. They have been kept busy with jobs on several school campuses in fraternities and sororities, and they have played at many country clubs and hotels in the middle west.

Last summer this orchestra played at Columbia University and have been called back again this year. June will be spent playing in summer resorts; in July they go to New York, and in the time left after the New York engagement they will come back to middle western summer resorts.

The band has added two men since last year, Dick Williamson on the drums and Bill Martin, trumpet and arranger.

THE FRENCH CLUB

The French Club, under the sponsorship of Professor Leavenworth, had several very interesting meetings this year. Professor Tomlinson was the speaker at one of the meetings; the program at the Christmas party was given by the members of the Conversational French class. The Club was the guest of the German Club at which an enjoyable program of German music was presented.

Officers of the club were: Don DeVoto, President; Ward Hackleman, Vice-President; and Robert Stofer, Program Chairman.

GERMAN CLUB

Der Deutsche Verein had seven meetings during the year, three the first semester and four the second. The club has for thirteen years given its members the opportunity to become more acquainted with German life and literature, and to enjoy its music. The program chairman called on local professors and also upon speakers who talked about German life. Walter Fertig again this year gave an interesting talk on German lyrics.

The officers this year were: Francis Knebel, President; W. C. Moore, Vice-President; Prof. Domroese, Secretary; these with Cletis Jones and Frank Kobal formed the Executive Committee of the club.

THE WABASH BAND

The Wabash Band with its scarlet uniforms is the most colorful and probably the best known of all campus activities. Its stirring tunes during football and basketball games do much to encourage both rooters and players. Its concerts are enjoyed by everyone.

Last fall the Senior Council provided ten new uniforms, making it possible for fifty musicians to wear the scarlet jackets of the Band. The College owns about thirty of the instruments and is steadily adding to the number.

Every Wabash man is proud of our Band and of the men who have spent many long hours to make it so outstanding. Our thanks go to Bill Haines, '40, the Student Director, and to Professor Montgomery, who are the guiding spirits behind its success.

THE AMBASSADORS

In the face of strong competition of the well-known Collegians on the campus, the Ambassadors made a name for themselves this year. They played for several fraternity dances as well as for other dances around school. They filled a number of engagements in the surrounding high schools.

The Ambassadors, who specialize in sweeter swing, are a nine piece band with their own arrangements and amplifying equipment. They wear snappy dark blue mess jackets.

As a part of the Varsity Show they received acclaim from MacMurray College and from the Alumni in Chicago.

Negotiations are being made for summer engagements on trans-Atlantic liners during vacation.

THE SCARLET MASQUE

Under the direction of Professor Phillips the Scarlet Masque, the campus dramatic organization, presented one play, "No More Peace".

Officers of the organization were: Gib Supple, President; Bill Pack, advertising manager; Dick Dearborn and Tapy, stage managers.

DEBATE

A squad of some dozen men represented Wabash this year in debate. After tryouts and early season eliminations the squad was divided into two affirmative and two negative "A" teams and a "B" team composed of the four freshmen on the squad.

As the question concerned the vital governmental policy of "pump-priming"—a very extensive subject—much comprehensive research was required in preparation for the various tournaments and debates in which the squad participated.

New men on the squad competed in a tournament at Franklin and all twelve men competed in the annual Manchester Tournament, one of the high spots of the season. Wabash won more than her share of the thirty-four debates engaged in, and the team of Burns and Moore went through the tourney undefeated. A week later two three-man teams won the Wabash-Earlham-DePauw triangle, the state's oldest forensic rivalry. Several other debates also were held in this better-than-average season.

As this book goes to press the annual trip, the triangle meet with Manchester and Butler, and the Hays Debate Awards have not yet been made.

THE GLEE CLUB

This has been a most successful year for the Wabash Glee Club, directed by Professor George W. Horton. In addition to several concerts, chapel programs, and radio engagements, the Glee Club formed the nucleus of an outstanding Varsity Show.

The opening night of the Varsity Show was held at MacMurray College for Women at Jacksonville, Illinois. The Show later traveled to the Chicago Alumni banquet in January. At both places many compliments were received on their fine singing.

In addition the Glee Club co-sponsored the Interfraternity Sing, which was inaugurated last year.

Much of its success is due to Professor Horton and the officers of the Club: President, Dick Dearborn; Librarian, Woodward Romine; Secretary-Treasurer, H. Gantz.

THE COMMISSARY ASSOCIATION

This year the Commissary Association was formed by the independent men, with the purpose of aiding them to get better meals cheaper. It is run as a cooperative system, with each man paying a certain amount to be a member. These members also try to earn money for the "co-op" by selling candy and soft drinks, the profits from which go to the treasury.

To head this new group, Bill Moore was chosen President; Frank Cassel, Manager; and as Board Members were chosen Gus Gineris, Thagrus Burns, and Allan Manteuffel.

"W" MEN'S CLUB

The "W" Men's Club is an honorary in the passive sense of the word. Membership requires the earning of a letter in some sport. The club meets but once a year at which time it elects officers, and incidentally has its picture taken.

The officers are Bill Kitzmiller, President; Bill Pack, Vice-president; and Bill Vosloh, Secretary-treasurer.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

The Pan-Hellenic Council has as its purpose the settling of inter-fraternity matters. As a result, this council is made up of one representative from each fraternity. Although the deciding of other business is important, the high-light of the "Pan-Hel" council is their annual two night dance. The first night, which was formal, for fraternity men only, but the second night, with Will Osborne playing, was open to the entire school. This year's council members were: Robert Long, Phi Gamma Delta, President; Jack Elliott, Beta Theta Pi, Vice-President; Frank Kobal, Sigma Chi, Secretary-Treasurer; Frank Knebel, Kappa Sigma; Cletis Jones, Phi Delta Theta; Jack Curry, Delta Tau Delta; and Carlyle Mason, Lambda Chi Alpha.

SENIOR-JUNIOR INDEPENDENTS

To further the interests of the independent men, the Association of Independent Men was formed. This was a natural outcome of the activity of these men on the campus. It has come to mean to the independent men what the fraternities mean to the organized men.

Omega is an honorary fraternal organization which also serves to promote the activities of the independents. This year these men were held together by still another bond, that of the Commissary

Association. This is a cooperative movement, sponsored to help independent men get better food cheaper, and to increase their social activities.

The center of all these activities is, as might well be expected, Forest Hall. Forest Hall was built in 1833, and today is the only dormitory at Wabash. It is the greatest factor in uniting these men of Wabash, for here it is that all of their meetings are held, and here it is that they get together between classes, students and professors alike.

The fraternity houses were especially well decorated for homecoming this year. The Delts took the cup with their rather realistic panorama, "Butler's Wreck". A close second place was won by a combination—Phi Delta Theta and Beta Theta Pi. The Phi Delts' decoration centered about the theme, "Buzzing through Butler", and the Beta's Hypnotist brought forth much acclaim, winning second prizes.

The night before homecoming—the gang gathered at the courthouse for the pep-session after a pee-rade from the bonfire (not as large as the one in the fall of '36). Here's a bird's eye view of the gathering—can you find your picture? Anyway, this is a good idea of what a bird might see on viewing a Wabash pee-rade. Now, on to the Strand for a free show!

This snapshot may bring back memories—memories of lilies, straws, shovels, and smelly freshmen. It's been a long, cold winter, but it's almost over. Class Day is quite an occasion here at Wabash. To some it means prizes (or surprises), but to everyone it means that another year has slipped by. The Freshmen become Sophomores; the Sophomores are no longer Sophomores; the Juniors are a year nearer comprehensives—and the Seniors, poor Seniors, are practically shoved out into the cold environs of The World.

Some campus scenes everyone will recognize—the Milligan Clock in winter, that shady walk from Peck Hall to the Library with a representative group, the chapel in the moonlight.

Here are snapshots that will bring back memories —TKE, Baseball Games, Freshman Cheer Leader, Freshman Baseball Coaches, Forest Hall, Tommy's, The Senior Bench, The Chapel Tower, Chemistry Lab.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

With emotions of pride, relief and some trepidation the Business Staff of the 1939 WABASH has finished its part of the book. The Staff wishes to take this opportunity to thank those who have contributed so materially to whatever is good in its section of the book.

To our advertisers we say—"Thanks again for the swell support and splendid co-operation. We came to you knowing that the success or failure of all Wabash publications lies with you. And in your response we are fully justified in believing that all Wabash publications are partly yours too."

To Red and Goodie—"Thanks for keeping us from making a bunch of foolish mistakes. The little suggestions you have made have resulted in better ads, finer composition and more beautiful arrangement."

To G. R. Grubb and Company for engravings and to S. K. Smith and Company for covers—"Thanks again for the many little things you have done to make our job easier."

REASON
Enough

Fortunate indeed is the man who can say: "I am a Wabash man!" Rooted deep in the hearts of more than one hundred graduating classes, honored everywhere, Wabash gives its men cause for glowing pride.

A feeling of that pride has gone with us in our work with the "Wabash" staff. An appreciation of its mellow tradition, coupled with our own desires to do everything thoroughly, has seemed to us "reason enough" for every bit of effort possible in every bit of copy.
